

Cascade Clamp

Cascade Clamps - Founded in Portland, Oregon in the year 1943, the Cascade Manufacturing Company started as a small machine store hiring just four individuals. Overall sales for that particular year amounted to about 60 thousand dollars. The first recorded sales revenues involved the assembly and machining of stainless-steel pipe fittings, valves and different parts. Throughout five years of operation, the company had expanded to 40 employees and their yearly sales volume had risen to $330,000. Today, Cascade is one of the top international manufacturers in the material handling trade.

Design and production of the company's initial hydraulic cylinder allowed this new company to aggressively engage in better business possibilities. Throughout the last 60 years, the industry of material handling has developed into a very complex field with Cascade proudly playing a part in its growth. Cascade presently continues to develop as the best supplier of lift truck attachments and different related products. The company feels assured in their ability to continue to lead the way in the business by understanding buyer's needs in the future and remaining competitive within the global market.

In the 1950's, Cascade began designing, making and selling hydraulic attachments. Construction was finished in 1956 on a new office to be able to house all of the plant and office operations in Portland, Oregon at the company's current headquarters. Following fifteen years of business, total employees reached one hundred eighty employees and sales had reached nearly 2.3 million dollars.

The next manufacturing plant was built in the year 1959 in Springfield, Ohio. The year 1960 marked Cascade's preliminary move into the global world of the material handling industry when the business recognized interest in Australia, the Netherlands and England.

In the year 1964, the business changed its name to the Cascade Corporation. Then in 1965, the business went public with an initial offering of 200,000 shares of common stock. Ever since then the company has expanded its manufacturing amenities throughout the continental US to the places Warner Robins Georgia to go along with its already current plants in Portland, Oregon and Springfield, Ohio. Cascade products are made worldwide due to many subsidiary operations. In 1994, a new plant was completed in Almere, the Netherlands which is Cascade's European head office. This facility is designed to be the essential customer support centre.

Cascade further expanded their product base in the year 1996 and the year 1997 subsequent to buying 5 companies, which included the Kenhar Corporation, the global best in blades.